If you are in one the Ebscohost Databases, there will be a “Cite” button to the right of the article that you may click.

If you are using an article from The Student Research Center, hit the print button, you will see this box. You need to click on Citation Format and make sure to “unclick” where it says HTML Full Text (when available).

The citation will pop up like this:

EBSCO Publishing  Citation Format: MLA (Modern Language Assoc.):

NOTE: Review the instructions at http://support.ebsco.com/help/?tint=src&lang=&feature_id=MLA and make any necessary corrections before consult your library resources for the exact formatting and punctuation guidelines.
